

I think that each person should have the right to their privacy.
In addition, I think that if a person intentionally makes it known to the state that they do not want their information distributed for use, that request should be honored.